Introduction

At present, photography can be a part of a person's life, no matter what they do, they must take pictures first. If compared to the days before we were eating or before we travelled, we had to pay homage to the blessings or thank God for giving us these things. At present, there are some people may still do that and also taking pictures to share feelings for other people to know. If the reason may be because from the past to the present day Travel is considered one of the pleasures of mankind. Traveling can be a relationship between us, family members, fans or friends. It can join people together, for example. Today we travel with friends by plane, but the plane is delayed. We don't know what to do. So I take pictures to make it remind us in the future. We may have forgotten that we and friends have been somewhere else, and this photo is an indication of where you are here. What happened on that day? Who do we go with? Are we still good friends now? Or taking photos for some people can generate income. We can see on television or on various websites. Everything has both advantages and disadvantages. Shooting as well if suppose we are famous celebrities or the person who is watched by the people, they tend to paparazzi until there is no personal time or privacy. Even we eat with friends who are very hungry but everyone had to wait for us to take pictures of food for the social network. Or another person is waiting to board the plane, but we take a photo of the gate and make the staff work harder.

Objective

1. To study about how much Thai people like to take photo in the airport.
2. To study how does the modern technology effect to Thai and people all over the world life (in terms of social network)

Research Methodology

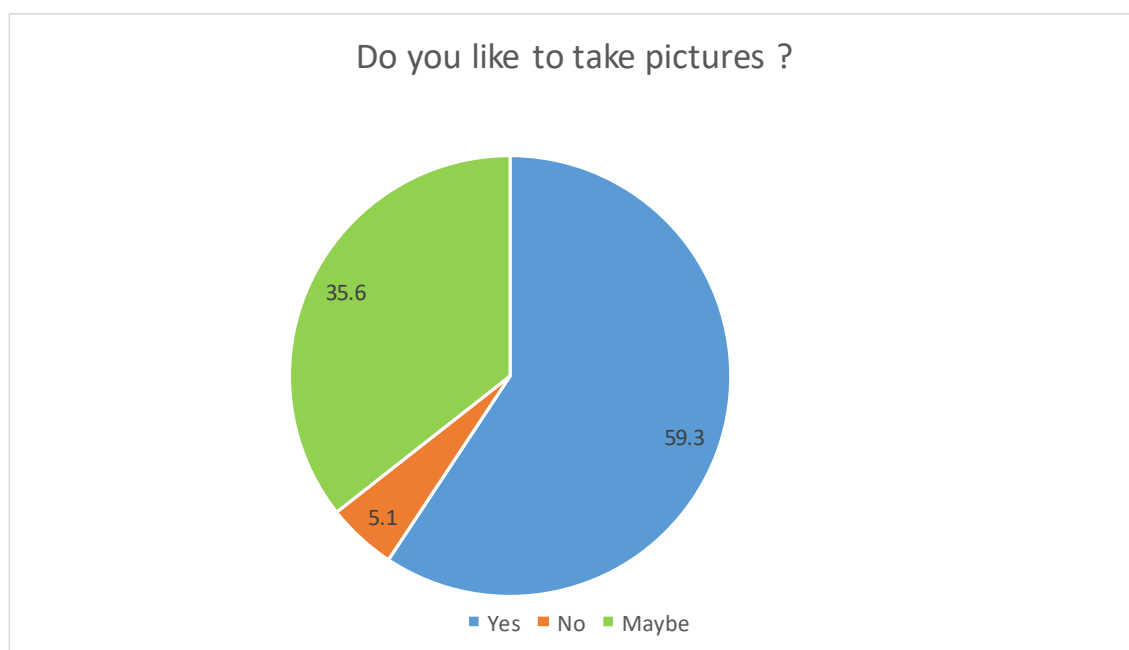

To Photography is like a form of storing memories. Whatever will change, but the photos will remind us what happened in this place before. In the past, before we had a high technology or application for photography. Normally Thai people like to buy a camera to take pictures. Because every house has to have various photo albums or when we go to the mall. We will find a photo booth. Thai people tend to like to shoot regularly. Within the photo, there will be a date and time attached to the right corner of the photo. In this day, technology has reached more people in Thailand, making photography is not only just stored as memories it also announcing to others that what are we doing nowadays, whether eating. There are many people who have researched why Thai people like to take pictures before eating. Helps increase the taste of eating: Today, food photography before eating seems to be a necessity that many people have to do until it is normal. Which there are many people who are annoyed or not very emotional with this behavior. But don't get frustrated because there is research that shows that Taking pictures of food before eating will help increase the flavor that is better.

A study published in the Journal of Consumer Marketing found that people will have a different taste of food. When taking pictures of food the study provided the sample to try to eat. With a comparison between regular eating and taking pictures of food before eating after that, the sample group voted to evaluate the taste of the same food that they had eaten. The research team believed that taking pictures of food would allow consumers to recognize the smell of food. And it can help increase the aesthetics of eating more, which Sean Coary, one of the research team, said, ‘At least, looking at the image of food from the camera will increase the aesthetics of perception and smell. Also, looking at the beautiful pictures of the food will bring consumers to the food experience they expect because the research team found Taking pictures of healthy food before eating it does not help to make the taste better the research team believes that this theory relates to our expectations of food in front of. Simply said, we will feel the excitement when we find food that we want to eat. And then taking pictures of food will help promote our perception of food in front of Which is contrary to healthy food Because it may have an unpleasant taste Photography is not helping to increase the desire for it.(Sean Coary)

Location is also important. For example, when we travel by plane, we often take pictures with things inside the airport, whether it is check-in counters, restaurants in the airport, in front of the gate or inside the plane. Why do Thai people like to take pictures before going on a trip? Probably because that trip is maybe their first trip or to keep good memories and would like to share with others that where I am going to or go with anyone with cool caps to show the mood at that time. I made a questionnaire to ask other people that they like to take pictures before they fly? If they like to take pictures, do they like to share with other people in the social network? Who do they like to travel with? The result is 1.Do you like to take picture ?

The result of the pie chart comes from 60 people.

2. Where you like to taking pictures in the airport?

The result of the pie chart comes from 60 people.

3. Do you share your pictures in your social media?

The result of the pie chart comes from 60 people.

Thai people like to take pictures before traveling. Like to traveling with family and like to share good memories through social media but photography is not the only advantage. There are also disadvantages if we use it in the wrong way. In this day, it can be said that there are both good examples and bad examples of photography, such as Phuket airport. Do not allow tourists to take a photo near the runway: 15 Dec 16 - Reporter reported that In the case that many tourists prefer to take pictures of aircrafts on Mai Khao Beach, Phuket, while taking up and landing at Phuket International Airport, Thalang District, Phuket Province for safety. Phuket Airport has installed a safety zone notification system in the runway area (09), 4 sets of Mai Khao Beach, which are announced to inform tourists and those who are aware of security measures and chapters. Punish if an action that may be harmful to the aircraft by making the announcement system in 3 languages, namely, Thai, English and Chinese. Mrs. Monruedee Ketphan, Phuket International Airport Director, said that Phuket Airport has security concerns. Because found There are people who come to take pictures while the aircraft is up and down in a very short distance. And sometimes coming near the fence of the runway which is at risk of being hit by aircraft jets because it is very dangerous Therefore, the system must be announced. Which will affect the area inside of Phuket Airport and the area behind the runway near the beach, Mai Khao Beach. There is also the use of barbed wire to block additional space. Keep away from the fence of the runway with a width of 8 meters and a length of 250 meters for the safety of all parties but still some people still have some photos. (Springnews)

Maybe our picture may cause other people to suffer, such as we are going to board the plane, but we are still not finished taking a picture. Causing others to wait for us or may cause the flight delay because airline's staff have to announce our name repeatedly many times Causing others to waste their time Or maybe we just take pictures and forget to see the people beside Causing a collision and causing others to get an accident So I have an idea that we should take the right time for photography as well.

Conclusion

Taking photo is an activity that people like to do. They like to keep their memories in photograph and share with other. It is slightly different from the past that we keep in hard paper and can share with family or guest who came to our house but the modern technology makes us can keep those photograph in our phone and can share in social network which is more audience. This is the factor that make people take photo more often than the past. It is a good thing to share but if it is too much it can also cause severe problem too.

Discussion and Recommendation

I have commented that taking pictures is a good thing, because it is a memory of one thing we can save it as a photos. It will make us remember and think about that feeling well. It can allow us to spend our free time while we wait for the plane. There is nothing to do, but every photograph of us must not be cause other people to suffer.
